

The fixed draft controls initial generation; the revision arms are not matched for calls, prompt specificity, or response length.